

Acknowledgement

This work is dedicated to late Mr. Mudtalib Daeuloh, a traditional fisherman, who had helped collecting fish samples for this study until end of his life with full enthusiasm and energetic by which we will never forgot his assistance. This research was financially supported by Thailand Research Council via Faculty of Science and Technology, Prince of Songkla University. The authors also would like to express their deep gratitude to Mr. Arun Loh-hem, a research assistant, and the crew of Patabarat fishing boat who had helped collecting fish samples throughout this sampling program.
